

Looking for team members for „Young Forum BMT“

In order to expand our network in the biomedical engineering community, we are planning a kick-off event for the young generation of BMT for which we are currently looking for support. Whether for the recruitment of speakers or for the topical and organizational design of the kick-off event program – we would like to welcome you as a team member of our project “Young Forum BMT” in the year 2024!

Your profile:

- You like to realize innovative ideas
- You have fun planning an outstanding event program for the young generation of BMT
- You are fascinated by biomedical engineering
- You have time for monthly conference calls and planning tasks between February and October
- You are goal-oriented and have no trouble managing your time
- You are a great communicator and work well-structured
- You are prepared to invest time in this project

Your tasks:

- Time management and organization of your own working tasks and appointments
- Assisting other project members in completing their work
- Reasonable distribution of tasks within the project
- Regular reporting to the project leader
- Contact for project-related questions

What we are offering:

- A highly motivated, constructive and long-term experienced team
- Full-time administrative offices (VDE DGBMT and Young Net) as well as a motivated BMT organizational team, always ready to support our project
- Fully covered travel expenses to the kick-off event
- A certificate to acknowledge your commitment to the project
- Numerous chances to meet CEOs of large companies and scientists to hold lively discussions and to expand your personal network

You are interested or have questions? Just contact us! We would be glad to inform you about your envisaged tasks in our team. We are at your service anytime: bmt@vde-youngnet.de
